The 22nd International Conference Radioelektronika 2012 is organized by Czech and Slovak technical universities in order to create a discussion forum for researchers, academics, experts, and students from Central Europe who are interested in the latest development in the area of radio electronics and related disciplines. The official language of the conference is English.

The event is organized into several branches. Each section contains prestigious invited papers from selected departments.

The conference is indexed and abstracted in IEEE Xplore and in Conference Proceedings Citation Index - ISI Web of Knowledge.

Topics

- Electronic Circuits and Systems
- Signal Processing and Applications
- Lightwaves and Microwaves

Venue

The 22nd International Conference Radioelektronika 2012 will be held at Hotel Myslivna, Brno Kohoutovice. Brno is a city of over 1,000 year-old history, which has approximately 400,000 inhabitants.

Brno can be easily reached by train, bus or car. The local airports (Brno, Vienna, Bratislava) is also a destination of several regular flights. The venue can be easily reached by public transport.

Important dates

- 31-Jan-2012: Full paper submission
- 6-Mar-2012: Notification of acceptance
- 20-Mar-2012: Final paper submission
- 27-Mar-2012: Close of registration
- 27-Mar-2012: Preliminary program

Submission

All paper submissions will be handled electronically via conference web pages.

Best student paper award

Papers bearing a Ph.D. or Master student as the first author will be considered for the Radioelektronika Best Paper Award.

Registration fee

- 140 EUR (3,500 CZK): Regular fee
- 120 EUR (3,000 CZK): Members of IEEE, Radioengineering Society and Czech Electrotechnical Society
- 100 EUR (2,500 CZK): Students

Under auspices
